

TARKINE RAINFOREST EXPEDITION

6 DAYS | 50 KM

A TREKKING JOURNEY THROUGH THE ANCIENT TAKAYNA / TARKINE RAINFOREST

To truly experience rainforest, you need to live it, breathe it, drink it – and walk it. Tasmania's only multi-day rainforest walk enters a vast, tree-lined cathedral - Australia's largest tract of cool temperate rainforest. Recognised globally for its ecological significance, this forest is a living remnant of the prehistoric woodlands of Gondwana. The moss-covered understorey is open, enabling our group to journey through the amazing forest for days. The Tarkine is one of the few remaining places where you can walk through temperate rainforest, without the visual presence of human development. It is still largely unexplored as a walking region, making this track an incomparable experience of isolation, beauty and wildness. It's a little bit special.

DAY 1: DEPART LAUNCESTON AND TRANSFER TO ARTHUR RIVER, MYSTERY CREEK

This morning we collect you from your Launceston accommodation between 7:30am and 8:00am. We then make our way through the countryside to Tasmania's north west, passing by some of Australis most fertile agricultural farm belts. To truly enter the Tarkine we have to cross the Arthur River. The landscape we enter is one of profound age and stillness. The Tarkine is a remnant of the forests that once swathed the vast southern supercontinent of Gondwana before its break up 60 million years ago. The major ascent of the day takes around two and a half hours. This is the toughest uphill climb of the whole trip. The evidence of the modern world disappears amongst the moss-covered myrtle and sassafras trees. Our first camp is set beside the photogenic Mystery Creek.

Walking distance 7km | Walking time 4-6 hrs
Meals: Lunch, Dinner

DAY 2: MYSTERY CREEK THROUGH OCTOPUS'S GARDEN

There is no better place or way to be woken than in the Tarkine with a steaming cup of your favourite. After breakfast we venture on. The forest structure changes and we encounter giant eucalypts. The Tarkine is home to some of the largest flowering trees on the planet - some of them are 80m + tall and so thick that our entire group will be unable to link hands around their base. There is plenty of time today to take in these wonders of the natural world. We complete our ascent to the fertile, volcanic plateau on which the vast rainforest flourishes. Amazingly, this area has remained almost unknown to the outside world with many unexplored valleys and wild rivers. The day's highlight is the Octopus's Garden - an ancient grove of myrtle trees twisted and contorted by the weight of centuries. Two deformed giants stand guard at the entrance to this fairy-tale corner of the forest. Fungi of every colour protrude from the moss. Tonight's camp is located on the edge of a forest ridge surrounded by myrtle trees, giant tree ferns and a carpet of green mosses and lichens.

Walking distance 7km | Walking time 6 hrs
Meals: Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner

DAY 3: TARKINE FALLS

One of the best things about walking in the Tarkine is the water. Mossy, filtered creeks criss-cross the forest floor making filling your water bottle a joy. The Tarkine's largest myrtle (as far as we know) towers above this part of the forest, drinking deeply from the surrounding streams. Today uncovers three Tarkine secrets. Firstly, we discover and explore a glade of giant tree ferns. These 160 million-year-old species predates even the ancient myrtles making it a visible and touchable link to our Gondwanan past. We then encounter the Shrine, which is a small waterfall that offers the opportunity for a refreshing drink and a bit of peaceful reflection. The destination for the day is Tarkine Falls. Before we stumbled upon this gem of the region, it had plummeted into its fern-lined trough unseen by white eyes for thousands of years. This is where we make our camp for the next two nights.

Walking distance 8km | Walking time 5hrs
Meals: Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner

DAY 4: TARKINE FALLS BASE CAMP

Leaving backpacks at camp we take a diversion to our Tarkine Lookout. The path traverses a number of pristine rainforest creeks, before hitting a solid wall of bauera, Banksia and tea tree. This vegetation change marks the edge of a button grass island located in a sea of rainforest. The last ascent is a 30-minute climb to the top of the Tarkine Lookout. What an amazing feeling to emerge from the rainforest after days of immersion deep within it. From the summit of this button grass knoll you start to get an idea of the scale of the Tarkine as it spreads away from you to every horizon. To the north, we view the Arthur and Keith River valleys, to the east stretches the 18 000 hectare Savage River National Park, and to the south and west lies the largest uninterrupted swath of temperate rainforest in the Southern Hemisphere. The endangered wedge-tailed eagle and grey goshawk both inhabit the Tarkine and can regularly be seen from the Lookout hunting above the button grass. It's not a bad spot to have lunch.

The rest of the day can be used to continue to explore the surrounding high points or discover hidden secrets within the forest. Perhaps you'd like to take it easy and soak up the forest energy for the afternoon and read a book, or just lie back and relax, the choice is yours. Your guides will prepare another fabulous meal to be enjoyed amongst the ancients of the forest.

Walking distance approx. 10km | Walking time 5-6hrs
Meals: Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner

DAY 5: TARKINE FALLS TO EASTONS CREEK VIA HEAVEN

Today we follow Easton's Creek through deep myrtle and tree fern country. It's a gorgeous, peaceful walk with opportunities to potentially glimpse two of the Tarkine's most elusive, rare and unusual residents – the platypus and the giant freshwater crayfish. After crossing the river several times, we come across a gorgeous waterhole, suspended between a tumbling waterfall and a gentle cascade. Call it what you like, we call it Heaven. It is one of the most luxuriant rainforest landscapes on the walk. Lunch is served here whilst we relax and soak up the sun and, for the adventurous, you can take a dip in the pristine pool.

The afternoons walk takes us up onto our last high ridgeline that looks back across the Easton Creek valley and spectacular Blue Peak. We leave the remoter part of this walk after viewing some of the largest trees in this part of the Tarkine, to make our way down to our last camp alongside the peaceful Eastons Creek.

Walking distance approx 10km | Walking time 6hrs
Meals: Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner

DAY 6: EASTONS CREEK VIA ARTHUR RIVER RETURN TO LAUNCESTON

We need to say our farewells to the Tarkine, for now.. We have great fun fording the Lyons and Arthur Rivers. The average depth for both crossings in summer is knee high water. Our guides will give clear instructions on how to cross safely. And all of a sudden, amid the splashing of your final crossing, we leave the Tarkine behind. We look back to the rainforest to bid a momentary farewell before returning to everyday life in Launceston.
